

Competition should dictate who listens to what programming and on what service, not government intervention. I commute 100 miles per day and I consider XM's traffic and weather service an invaluable tool providing me up-to-the-minute reports on where I can expect delays so that I can seek alternate routes. As it was my choice to subscribe to XM, I don't believe that the NAB has a right to say what I can and cannot listen to. I urge the FCC to reject NAB petition 04-160 and leave the freedom of choice where it belongs -- with the consumer.
